RECORD SET

Record Set (Type) Level

- Controlled Terms - but we can imagine different types of record set.

For my purposes: need Accession, Survey, Scholarly collection...

Origin of Record Set

- Needed, without question, but could be covered in the history of the Record Set.

DAY 3/R

ICAD-EGAD

- Accounts - not sure what the use-case is for this entry.

Stephen - we do really need to have the ability to have multiple presentations - and the model should allow for this but we also need to support remaining models of presentation for architects but we want sustainability out scope for innovation in presentation and communication

Daniel: Also totally supports the Australia Series System approach - He did not over-thought provenance - in fact he strengthened it.

Dana: Be transparent about allowing Architects to do what they have done but allow innovation.

Daniel: Allow the architect to take a step back and see their work in a larger context

Dana: And that we have to be explicit

Arrangement

L = Classification from

Record in some way

⇒ What are talking about?

Arrangement + Classification

are close but separate

Arrangement = Explanation

of structure - how it is captured, use of existing

codes (or talk of them) ⇒

How what you find influences

what you do in terms of arrangement - Contents for inclusion into the Record Set

Actual Domain

Transfer

Intend data after the event

Response to

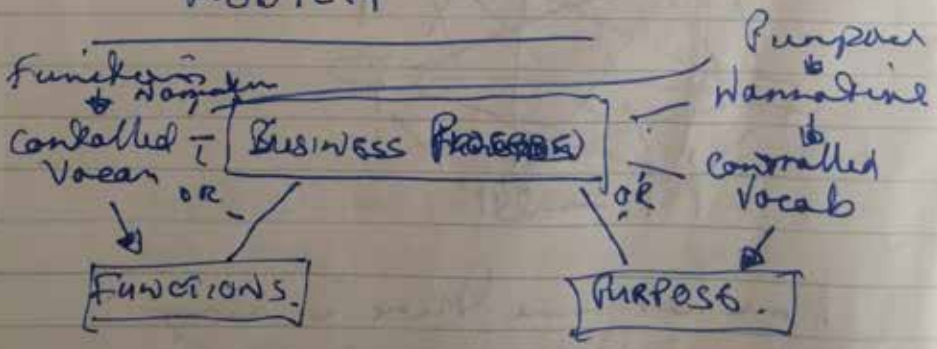

ICAD-6CAD

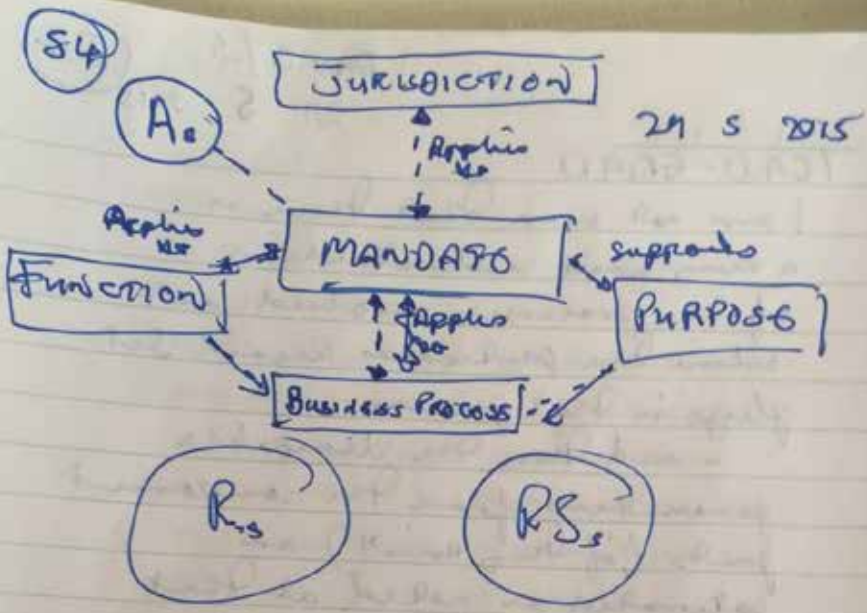

I am not sure that there is a very good understanding of the processes involved and where the particular Record Set plays in that process

- and then the dependent parameters from the component parts. (if they exist) or calculated or noted at that Set level - which could be ~~described~~ the only feasible level of description at a particular point in time

RODICA

ICAD - EQAO DAY 3 / 6

I am not sure there is any value in this sort of mapping as you can always argue for everything could be connected.

① A stable draft of the conceptual model.

- It is complex and challenging

② The Ontology

- does not need to be finalized by the conceptual model is one but needs to one for input

X Version earlier

GJM Notes: Day 3, Page 7 – I am not sure I have ever experience such a strong sense of collective guilt when we realised that Kat was not with us and still down at Bran. Fortunately it all resolved pretty promptly due to some clear heads and telephonic technologies.

Criticism/Questions

- Remant Name of the Ontology??

⇒ We need a namespace!

But we need this to be persistent

• Communication Plans

L framework for Document.

We need to start the Standards -

Ingredients

+ Appraisal

Can have models that are better -

- not for W3C model,

- FABR -

- 1000 cases - dense but
not polished

- We want to be as concise as we can

- getting to premises ICA
standards - in terms of target
- and we start here.

⇒ Continuity -

applies for 15% rule stress continuity -

Bill, Kat and Danier

- to start cutting and
arguing.

GJM Notes: Day 3, Page 10

And that was really all the work except for all the bits that happened through breakfast, lunch and dinner and at Bran Castle and even on the walks in the valley!

GJM Photos: Day 3 – Lunch favourites

GJM Photos: Day 3 – Bran Castle – from all these entanglements, dependencies and relationships will emerge something coherent and majestic.

GJM Photos: Day 4, Goodbyes

GJM Photos: Day 4, Fundata – in English ‘Fun Data’. I think we can all live with that. But in Romanian ‘fund’ translates as ‘bottom’ which is a bit like a literal translation of ‘fond’ meaning ‘bottom of the ocean’, and ‘ata’ translates as ‘thread’, or maybe none of the above. It was a lovely walk though I did need to get a dog stick to ward off a very protective cow-dog.

GJM Photos: Day 4, Fundata – Much to my surprise I found that two common family names in Fundata were Gavanescu and Gavanea. I really have no idea what this quasi Celtic connection might mean except that the Celts were in this area as part of their general move through Europe. Or maybe it is just weird dumb luck. Whatever the circumstances I felt most at home.
